

No secret: I love my magical girl shows, and I've been avidly following Pretty Cure since it first appeared a few years back. Sadly, the third series,

Pretty Cure Splash Star

, doesn't seem to have gotten much love from the fans (who really just wanted Nagisa and Honoka back), so

Toei

have gone back to the drawing board with the fourth incarnation, rather confusingly called

Yes! Pretty Cure 5

That'll be because there are five girls. Trying to recapture the magic of the likes of Sailor Moon or my personal favourite magical girl show,

Tokyo Mew Mew

, perhaps? I dunno - but I can say, I want to see it already... More details at the

, if you can read Japanese.
